JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

Child Victims Act Proceeding
22 NYCRR 202.72

VERIFIED COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Daniel Fagan (“Plaintiff”), by and through his attorneys, Lowey Dannenberg, P.C., respectfully alleges for his Verified Complaint against Defendants The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York (“NY Archdiocese”); Church of Immaculate Heart of Mary a/k/a The Parish of the Immaculate Heart of Mary a/k/a Immaculate Heart of Mary School (“IHM” or “Immaculate Heart of Mary”); and Edwin Gaynor (“Gaynor”) (collectively together “Defendants”), and alleges upon personal knowledge and, where stated, upon information and belief, as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. From approximately 1961 to 1963, Gaynor, a childrens’ physical education teacher and sports coach at Immaculate Heart of Mary school in Scarsdale, N.Y, sexually abused Plaintiff as a child.

2. The NY Archdiocese knew for decades that its employees were using their positions within the NY Archdiocese to groom and to sexually abuse children. The Defendants were specifically notified of Coach Gaynor's abuse of boys on numerous occasions and his conduct was an open secret. Despite that knowledge, the NY Archdiocese failed to take reasonable steps to protect children from being sexually abused by Gaynor and actively concealed the abuse through overt denials and by moving Gaynor from facility to facility. This was consistent with the NY Archdiocese general practice of moving sexually abusive priests; a practice sometimes referred to as "move the trash."

3. In April of 2019, following decades of denial and cover-up, the NY Archdiocese released a list of 120 employees that it determined had been credibly accused of sexually abusing children. Based on the NY Archdiocese's years of wrongful conduct, a reasonable person could and would conclude that it knowingly and recklessly disregarded the abuse of children and chose to protect its reputation and wealth over those who deserved protection. The result is not surprising: hundreds, if not thousands, of children were sexually abused by employees who served the NY Archdiocese. The Plaintiff in this lawsuit is one of those children who was sexually abused because of the NY Archdiocese's wrongful conduct.

4. This action is brought by Plaintiff Fagan who was just a young boy at age 9 to 10 when he was repeatedly sexually abused by Gaynor. While the abuse occurred, Defendants were generally negligent and/or grossly negligent in that they employed Gaynor and gave him access to children. This action arises out of the clandestine abuse perpetrated by Gaynor.

PROCEEDING IN ACCORDANCE WITH CPLR 214-G AND 22 NYCRR 202.72

5. This Verified Complaint is filed pursuant to the Child Victims Act (CVA) 2019 Sess. Law News of N.Y. Ch. 11 (S. 2440), CPLR 214-G, and 22 NYCRR 202.72. The CVA opened a historic one-year one-time window for victims and survivors of childhood sexual abuse in the State of New York to pursue lapsed claims. Prior to the passage of the CVA, each plaintiff's claims were time barred the day they turned 22 years old. The enactment of the CVA allows plaintiffs, for the first time in their lives, to pursue restorative justice in New York State.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

21. At all times material, Gaynor was a physical education teacher and coach who worked for and was employed by Immaculate Heart of Mary School.

22. Defendants had custody of Plaintiff during his schooling and activities and were entrusted with Plaintiff and, therefore, had responsibility for Plaintiff and authority over Plaintiff.

23. From approximately 1961 to 1963, when Plaintiff was approximately 9 to 10 years old, Gaynor repeatedly engaged in unpermitted sexual abuse of Plaintiff that traumatized Plaintiff and continues to haunt and disturb him.

24. Plaintiff Fagan was a student athlete while Gaynor coached his team and taught physical education, which increased Fagan's exposure to the Defendant and ultimate pervasive anxiety.

25. Gaynor cultivated Fagan to become an athlete. Fagan was a good athlete and was point guard on the basketball team.

26. During this time, Gaynor repeatedly molested Fagan. Fagan remembers two specific instances very well. One time, Gaynor hurt Fagan and Fagan pushed Gaynor away.

27. Gaynor would pull Fagan onto his lap in Gaynor's leather recliner in his office. Gaynor would stroke Fagan's penis by putting his hand down Fagan's pants.
28. Fagan was able to hear other boys' voices in the locker room next door. Fagan attempted to concentrate on said voices to disassociate himself from the abuse.
29. While Gaynor was molesting Fagan, Fagan would focus on a bag of shelled pistachio nuts on Gaynor's desk.
30. When Gaynor was finished molesting Fagan, Fagan would go into a bathroom located just outside to compose himself before going back to class or practice. Fagan experienced a lot of shame.
31. Fagan never told anyone.
32. Fagan was a student athlete while Gaynor coached his team and taught physical education, which increased Fagan's exposure to the Defendant and ultimate pervasive anxiety.
33. Gaynor cultivated Fagan to become an athlete. Fagan was a good athlete and became a guard on the basketball team and was also a shortstop for the IHM baseball team.
34. The physical abuse by Gaynor ended for Fagan at the end of 4th grade. However, the emotional abuse continued for 3 more years, as Gaynor was Fagan's physical education teacher and coach at IHM. In addition, Gaynor would stop by Fagan's residence, which previous to these visits was Fagan's "safe" place. This continual exposure added recurrent mental trauma and a feeling of inescapable paranoia.
35. Gaynor perpetually groomed Fagan, requesting that Plaintiff join a special basketball team of elite players (Pee Wee All Star Team); he asked him to model a baseball uniform for the local paper and, he frequently praised him on his athletic skills. These actions were deeply confusing to a child.

36. Gaynor wanted to take Fagan to basketball camp when he was in about 7th grade. Fagan told his oldest brother, John, that he was afraid to go with Gaynor to the camp and John relayed Plaintiff's fears to his Mother, Clare. Furthermore, when Plaintiff's Mom spoke to a neighbor about Gaynor's desire to take Plaintiff to camp, the neighbor warned her about Gaynor's proclivities. Fagan did not go to camp and his Mother reported her suspicions to the Parish.

37. Fagan has experienced many long-term effects because of the abuse by Gaynor.

38. Fagan started drinking in 8th grade and eventually succumbed to alcoholism. He was able to stop drinking on February 1, 1985 and received support as a member of Alcoholics Anonymous.

39. Fagan's sex life has been profoundly impacted; i.e, intimacy issues, which affect his present marital relationship.

40. Because of Gaynor's abuse, Fagan's life is impacted by low self-esteem, which affected his ability to achieve long-term employment throughout much of his adult life.

41. Fagan thought about committing suicide constantly throughout his adult years.

42. Fagan attempted suicide for the first time in January 1996. He tried to asphyxiate himself with exhaust fumes from his car. He was at Sacred Heart University, in Fairfield, Connecticut, and pulled over. He then backed into a snow bank as far as he could go, left the car on and fell asleep. He later woke up and told Linda Disdier, a woman he was living with at the time about his attempted suicide.

43. Fagan attempted suicide again in 1999. He drank an entire can of poisonous wallpaper remover in front of a church and prayed to die. It did not kill him. He ran to the bathroom in the church and became very sick.

44. In 1999, Fagan sought treatment from therapist Robert Schwam in Ardsley, New York. Fagan first began to discuss the sexual abuse. Schwam encouraged him to attend a sexual abuse group in Westchester County, which he did.

45. In 2003, Gaynor sent Fagan a card for his 50th birthday. Fagan experienced shock and flashbacks from the years of childhood abuse. This sent him into a downward spiral of anxiety and depression.

46. On April 21, 2005, Fagan thought about attempting suicide a third time by overdosing on pills. He began to take steps to kill himself by overdose. As an active member of Alcoholics Anonymous, ironically he did not want to jeopardize his hard-fought sobriety. He reached out to his sister Maura for help instead. His sister took him to the emergency room at Stamford Hospital.

47. From 2005-2006, Fagan was seen in weekly individual psychotherapy and monthly psychiatry visits for medication maintenance and guidance.

48. Fagan was diagnosed with Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, Chronic resulting from childhood sexual abuse.

49. Fagan attends sexual abuse support groups.

50. The abuse by Gaynor also had an economic effect on Fagan's life, as his lack of confidence affected his ability to achieve life-time goals.

51. Defendants should have taken action to prevent Gaynor from interacting with children without supervision. The abuse by Gaynor caused Fagan serious psychological injury, physical problems, emotional distress and on-going impairment.

52. Defendants had the authority, duty, and the ability to prevent Gaynor from sexually abusing children such as Plaintiff Fagan. Defendants failed to do so.

CAUSES OF ACTION*COUNT I*Negligence*(Against All Defendants)

53. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all prior paragraphs as if fully stated in this Count.

54. Each Defendant owed Plaintiff a duty of reasonable care to protect the Plaintiff from injury.

55. Defendant NY Archdiocese and IHM owed Plaintiff a duty of care because each Defendant had a special relationship with Plaintiff.

56. Defendants also had a duty arising from the special relationship that existed with Plaintiff, Plaintiff's parents, and other parents of young, innocent, vulnerable children in the Archdiocese of New York to properly train and supervise its employees. This special relationship arose because of the high degree of vulnerability of the children entrusted to their care. As a result of this high degree of vulnerability and risk of sexual abuse inherent in such a special relationship, Defendants had a duty to establish measures of protection for infant minors.

57. Each Defendant owed Plaintiff a duty to protect Plaintiff from harm because of their oversight and employment of Gaynor.

58. Defendants also had a duty to take reasonable steps to prevent Gaynor from using the tasks, premises, and instrumentalities of his position to target and sexually abuse children, including Fagan.

59. Defendants owed Plaintiff a duty of reasonable care because Gaynor brought Plaintiff onto Immaculate Heart of Mary premises; undertook custody of minor children, including Plaintiff; promoted their facilities and programs as being safe for children; held their agents, including Gaynor, out as safe to work with children; encouraged parents and children to spend time with their agents; and/or encouraged their agents, including Gaynor, to spend time with, interact with, and recruit children.

60. By accepting custody of the minor Plaintiff, Defendants established an in loco parentis relationship with Plaintiff and in so doing, owed Plaintiff a duty to protect Plaintiff from injury. Further, Defendants entered into a fiduciary relationship with Plaintiff by undertaking the custody, supervision of, and/or care of the minor Plaintiff. As a result of Plaintiff being a minor, and by Defendants undertaking the care and guidance of the Plaintiff, Defendants also held a position of empowerment over Plaintiff. Further, Defendants, by holding themselves out as being able to provide a safe environment for children, solicited and/or accepted this position. Defendants, through its employees, put the minor Plaintiff at risk for sexual abuse.

61. By establishing and/or operating the NY Archdiocese and Immaculate Heart of Mary, holding their facilities and programs out to be a safe environment for Plaintiff, accepting custody of the minor Plaintiff in loco parentis, and by establishing a fiduciary relationship with Plaintiff, and providing a reasonably safe environment for children, Defendants owed Plaintiff a duty to properly supervise Plaintiff to prevent harm from foreseeable dangers. Defendants had the duty to exercise the same degree of care over minors under their control as a reasonably prudent person would have exercised under similar circumstances.

62. Each Defendant owed Plaintiff a duty to protect Plaintiff from harm because Defendants invited Plaintiff onto their property and Gaynor posed a dangerous condition on Defendants' property.

63. Each Defendant breached its duties to Plaintiff. Defendants failed to use ordinary care in determining whether their facilities were safe and/or determining whether they had sufficient information to represent their facilities as safe. Defendants' breach of their duties include, but are not limited to: failure to protect Plaintiff from a known danger, failure to have sufficient policies and procedures in place to prevent child sex abuse, failure to properly implement policies and procedures to prevent child sex abuse, failure to take reasonable measures to ensure that policies and procedures to prevent child sex abuse were working, failure to adequately inform families and children of the risks of child sex abuse, failure to investigate risks of child molestation, failure to properly train the employees at institutions and programs within Defendants' geographical confines, failure to train the parishioners within Defendants' geographical confines about the dangers of sexual abuse by employees, failure to have any outside agency test their safety procedures, failure to protect the children in their programs from child sex abuse, failure to adhere to the applicable standard of care for child safety, failure to investigate the amount and type of information necessary to represent the institutions, programs, leaders and people as safe, failure to train their employees properly to identify signs of child molestation by fellow employees, failure by relying upon mental health professionals, and/or failure by relying on people who claimed that they could treat child molesters.

64. Defendants also breached their duty to Plaintiff by failing to warn Plaintiff and Plaintiff's family of the risk that Gaynor posed and the risks of child sexual abuse in Catholic institutions. Despite the fact that students knew Gaynor was abusing boys and, therefore, the school knew or should have known the same, Defendants failed to prevent and failed to warn Plaintiff of their knowledge.

65. Defendants additionally violated a legal duty by failing to report known and/or suspected abuse of children by Gaynor and/or its other agents to the police and law enforcement.

66. Prior to the sexual abuse of Plaintiff, Defendants learned or should have learned that Gaynor was not fit to work with children. Defendants, by and through their agents, servants and/or employees, became aware, or should have become aware of Gaynor's propensity to commit sexual abuse and of the risk to Plaintiff's safety. At the very least, Defendants knew or should have known that they did not have sufficient information about whether or not Gaynor was safe.

67. Defendants knew or should have known that Defendants had numerous agents who had sexually molested children. Defendants knew or should have known that child molesters have a high rate of recidivism. They knew or should have known that there was a specific danger of child sex abuse for children participating in their youth programs.

68. However, despite this knowledge, Defendants negligently deemed that Gaynor was fit to work with children.

69. Defendants' actions created a foreseeable risk of harm to Plaintiff. As a vulnerable child at its facilities, Plaintiff was a foreseeable victim. Additionally, as a vulnerable child whom Gaynor had access to through Defendants' facilities, Gaynor gained the opportunity to abuse Plaintiff. At all times, Plaintiff was a foreseeable victim and Defendants failed in their obligation to keep him safe.

70. As a direct result of the foregoing, Plaintiff sustained physical, emotional, and psychological injuries, along with pain and suffering. The sexual abuse and resulting injuries to Plaintiff were caused solely and wholly by reason of the negligent failures of Defendants.

COUNT II

Negligent Training and Supervision of Employees (Against NY Archdiocese and Immaculate Heart of Mary)

71. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all prior paragraphs as if fully stated in this Count.

72. At all times material, Gaynor was employed by Defendants and was under each Defendant's direct supervision, employ, and control when he committed the wrongful acts alleged herein. Gaynor engaged in the wrongful conduct while acting in the course and scope of his employment with Defendants and/or accomplished the sexual abuse by virtue of his job-created authority.

73. Defendants had a duty, arising from their employment of Gaynor, to ensure that he did not sexually molest children.

74. Further, Defendants owed a duty to train and educate employees and administrators and establish adequate and effective policies and procedures calculated to detect, prevent, and address inappropriate behavior and conduct between clerics and children.

75. Defendants were negligent in the training, supervision, and instruction of their employees. Defendants failed to timely and properly educate, train, supervise, and/or monitor their agents or employees with regard to policies and procedures that should be followed when sexual abuse of a child is suspected or observed. Defendants were additionally negligent in failing to supervise, monitor, chaperone, and/or investigate Gaynor and/or in failing to create, institute, and/or enforce rules, policies, procedures, and/or regulations to prevent Gaynor's sexual abuse of Plaintiff. In failing to properly supervise Gaynor, and in failing to establish such training procedures for employees and administrators, Defendants failed to exercise the degree of care that a reasonably prudent person would have exercised under similar circumstances.

76. As a direct result of the foregoing, Plaintiff was sexually abused and sustained emotional, physical and psychological injuries. The sexual abuse and resulting injuries to Plaintiff were caused solely and wholly by reason of the negligent failures of Defendants in the training and/or supervising of its employees.

COUNT III
Negligent Retention of Employees
(Against NY Archdiocese and Immaculate Heart of Mary)

77. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all prior paragraphs as if fully stated in this Count.

78. At all times material, Gaynor was employed by Defendants and was under each Defendant's direct supervision, employ, and control when he committed the wrongful acts alleged herein.

79. Defendants negligently retained Gaynor with knowledge of Gaynor's propensity for the type of behavior which resulted in Plaintiff's injuries in this action. Defendants knew of, or failed to investigate, Gaynor's past history of sexual abuse and, through the exercise of reasonable diligence, should have known of Gaynor's propensity for child sexual abuse. Defendants either made an appropriate investigation of Gaynor and failed to act on their findings or and failed to do so. An appropriate investigation would have revealed the unsuitability of Gaynor for continued employment and it was unreasonable for Defendants to retain Gaynor in light of the information they knew or should have known.

80. Defendants negligently retained Gaynor in a position where he had access to children and could foreseeably cause harm, which Plaintiff would not have been subjected to had Defendants taken reasonable care.

81. In failing to timely remove Gaynor from coaching minors on school property or working with children or terminate the employment of Gaynor, Defendants failed to exercise the degree of care that a reasonably prudent person would have exercised under similar circumstances.

82. As a direct result of the foregoing, Plaintiff sustained physical, emotional, and psychological injuries, along with pain and suffering. The sexual abuse and resulting injuries to Plaintiff were caused solely and wholly by reason of the negligent failures of Defendants in the retention of its employees.

COUNT IV
Outrage and Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress
(Against All Defendants)

83. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all prior paragraphs, as is fully stated in this Count.

84. Defendants engaged in reckless, extreme, and outrageous conduct by providing Gaynor with access to children, including Plaintiff Fagan, despite knowing or in willful blindness that he would likely use his position to groom and to sexually abuse children, including Fagan. Their misconduct was so shocking and outrageous that it exceeds the reasonable bounds of decency as measured by what the average member of the community would tolerate and demonstrates an utter disregard by them of the consequences that would follow.

85. As a result of this reckless, extreme, and outrageous conduct, Gaynor gained access to Fagan and routinely, repeatedly sexually abused him.

86. Defendants knew that this reckless, extreme, and outrageous conduct would inflict severe emotional and psychological distress, including personal physical injury and Fagan did, in fact, suffer severe emotional and psychological distress and personal physical injury as a result, including severe mental anguish, depression; attempted suicides, substance abuse, shame, humiliation and emotional and physical distress.

COUNT V
Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress
(Against All Defendants)

87. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all prior paragraphs as if fully stated in this Count.

88. Defendants owed a duty of care to Plaintiff not to place Gaynor in a setting that would foreseeably pose a danger to Plaintiff.

89. Defendants knew or should have known that Gaynor was a danger to children before Gaynor sexually assaulted Plaintiff.

90. Defendants knew or should have known that Gaynor had a propensity to engage in conduct with children that was sexual in nature before Gaynor sexually assaulted Plaintiff.

91. Defendants breached their duties to Plaintiff by failing to use reasonable care. Defendants' failures include, but are not limited to, failing to properly supervise Gaynor, failing to properly supervise Plaintiff, and failing to protect Plaintiff from a known danger.

92. The negligence and conduct of Defendants unreasonably endangered the physical safety of Plaintiff.

93. The aforementioned negligence of Defendants was a direct and proximate cause of the extreme emotional and psychological harm and distress suffered by Plaintiff and unreasonably endangered Plaintiff's safety.

94. As a direct and proximate result of the foregoing, Plaintiff sustained physical, emotional, and psychological injuries, along with pain and suffering.

COUNT VI
Assault
(Against All Defendants)

95. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all prior paragraphs as if fully stated in this Count.

96. Gaynor intentionally placed Plaintiff Fagan in apprehension of imminent harmful and offensive conduct.

97. Defendant Immaculate Heart of Mary is liable for the conduct of Gaynor under the law of vicarious liability, including the doctrine of respondeat superior.

98. Defendant NY Archdiocese is liable for the conduct of Gaynor under the law of vicarious liability, including the doctrine of respondeat superior.

99. As a direct result of conduct described herein, Plaintiff has suffered the injuries and damages described herein.

100. The conduct of Defendants was both reckless and outrageous, entitling Plaintiff to an award of punitive damages.

COUNT VII
Premises Liability
(Against NY Archdiocese and Immaculate Heart of Mary)

101. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference the allegations contained in all prior paragraphs as if fully stated in this Count.

102. Defendants owed Plaintiff a duty to protect Plaintiff from harm because the Defendants invited Plaintiff onto their property.

103. Gaynor posed a dangerous condition on the Defendants' property.

104. Defendants allowed Gaynor to remain on its property even though it knew or should have known of Gaynor's dangerous sexual propensities.

105. Gaynor was dangerous, unsafe, and posed a risk of serious injury to any persons who were lawfully in and about said area.

106. Defendants knew or should have known of the danger posed by Gaynor, and despite said notice, Defendants failed, refused, and/or neglected to remove, reassign, or restrict Gaynor's access to children, and was otherwise careless and negligent such that a great risk of serious injury to persons who are lawfully in and about said area was caused and/or allowed to exist.

107. Defendants knew or should have known that Gaynor posed an unreasonable risk of harm and a foreseeable danger to Plaintiff.

108. Defendants knew or should have known that Gaynor was a danger to children before Gaynor sexually assaulted Plaintiff.

109. Defendants knew or should have known that Gaynor was not fit to work with children and had a propensity to engage in conduct with children that was sexually abusive in nature before Gaynor sexually abused Plaintiff.

110. As a direct and proximate result of the foregoing, Plaintiff sustained physical, emotional, and psychological injuries, along with pain and suffering.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, based on the foregoing causes of action, Plaintiff prays for judgment against Defendants in an amount that will fully and fairly compensate Plaintiff for Plaintiff's injuries and damages, and for any other relief the Court deems appropriate, including punitive damages.

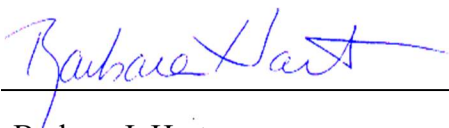

The amount of damages sought in this Verified Complaint exceeds the jurisdictional limits of all lower courts which would otherwise have jurisdiction.

JURY DEMAND

Plaintiff demands a trial by jury of all issues so triable. Pursuant to §4 of the New York Child Victims Act, Plaintiff is entitled to a trial preference.
